

CONFIDENTIALITY POLICY

1. AIMS & OBJECTIVES

Employees and personnel of Larsen & Toubro Limited and its subsidiary and associate companies (“L&T Group”) have a duty of maintaining the confidentiality of information received by them in the course of their employment or engagement. This Confidentiality Policy documents the confidentiality and non-disclosure duties and obligations of the employees and personnel of L&T Group.

The employees and personnel of L&T Group will, in the course of their employment and engagement, become aware of and possess information of the L&T Group or of third parties disclosed to the L&T Group that is not generally known. This may include information which if disclosed could jeopardise the interests of the L&T Group. It may also include commercial trade secrets disclosure of which could harm the interests of the L&T Group.

All employees and personnel of the L&T Group have a duty to keep such information strictly confidential and to use it only for the proper purposes in accordance with the law.

2. PURPOSE

The purpose of this Confidentiality Policy is to lay down the principles that must be observed by all who work with the L&T Group and have access to confidential information.

This policy, where relevant, should be read in conjunction with the appointment letter and/or employment contract applicable to L&T Group employees and personnel, and other work rules, policies and procedures applicable to L&T Group employees and personnel.

3. CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION

Confidential information includes any information which is not publicly known. It can concern technology, business, finance, transaction or other affairs of a company. It includes information which is commercially valuable such as trade secrets or business information, as well as personal information.

Examples of confidential information include but are not limited to: any document, discovery, invention, improvement, patent specification, formulations, plans, ideas, books, accounts, data, reports, drafts of documents of all kinds, correspondence, client information, lists and files, decisions, information about employees, strategies, drawings, recommendations, designs, office precedents, policies and procedures, budget and financial information in any form, i.e. physical, electronic, electro-magnetic or otherwise.

Confidential information to do with unpublished inventions can be particularly sensitive. Disclosure of an invention before a patent application is filed will cause irreversible loss of intellectual property rights to the owner of the invention. Even after a patent application is filed, care must be taken not to disclose improvements to the invention. Trade secret protection will also be lost through open disclosure of the secret.

4. PRINCIPLES

L&T Group expects all of its employees and personnel to handle all confidential information in a sensitive and professional manner. L&T Group employees and personnel are under an obligation not to gain access or attempt to gain access to information which they are not authorised to have. The L&T Group, however, recognises the importance of an open culture with clear communication and accountability. The L&T Group wishes to maintain personal and organisational safety and expects all employees and personnel to handle confidential information in a way which protects organisational security.

The purpose of confidentiality is essentially two fold. Firstly it protects sensitive or confidential information of the L&T Group and its clients and customers. Secondly, in order for the L&T Group to be effective, L&T Group employees and personnel must be able to share information and knowledge, and therefore confidentiality is necessary as a condition of trust.

The best protection against breaches in confidentiality is to keep the number of employees and personnel who have access to sensitive information to a necessary minimum.

Intentional, repeated, accidental, or unauthorised disclosure of any confidential information by any member of staff will be subject to disciplinary action. Any such disciplinary action will take account of the confidential and possible sensitive nature of the information and will make sure that in dealing with it, no further breaches of confidentiality take place.
